

PRODUCT SPECIFICATION

ABUS Brass Long Shackle Padlock

The keyed alike long shackle range are exactly same padlocks as the stand brass padlocks except with an extended shackle and still offering tough, reliable security at competitive prices. The 65 series is extremely good value for money and our best selling product by far. The stainless brass casing and stainless steel mechanism also make it highly resilient to all types of weather.

Our long shackle range afford the same great benefits and proven quality of the standard brass range but enable them to be used where the staple or item you are locking will not fit within a closed standard brass padlock shackle. However, try to avoid using a long shackle type padlock where it is not necessary. This will leave the padlock open to additional types of leverage attacks.
